AN OUTLINE OF THE HISTORY AND WORKING
OF THE
INSCRIBED STOCK SYSTEM

MAY 1963

This book is intended to serve only as an outline of the history and working of the Incribed Stock system: attached are:

- (i) a copy of the 'Memorandum for Clerks in the Incribed Stock Transfer Offices'. (January 1939)
- (ii) reproductions of various documents to illustrate the text.*

Further information as to the details of the system can be found in:

- (i) Recapitulation of Departmental Orders issued from the 14th November 1929 to the 17th January 1939 in connection with Incribed and Registered Mechanised Processes and the New Method of Preparing Dividends.

*The numbers in the margin of the text are references to these documents.

I INTRODUCTION

(1) Inscribed Stock (or, as it was popularly called, Book Stock) was that part of the Bank's Stock Register of which the essential characteristics were as follows:

(i) the transfer of a holding out of a stockholder's name was effected by execution in the Bank books either by the stockholder in person or by his duly appointed Attorney.

(ii) the stockholder's title to his holding was evidenced by the appropriate entry in the Bank books: a Stock Receipt (or, in some cases, a Certificate of Inscription, Registration, or of Transfer) was issued to him but this was of value merely as a memorandum.

(2) This was the original method of transfer of Stock and the details of the system, for the purpose of transfers of Bank Stock, were laid down in the Bank Charter.¹ When the Bank began the management of British Government Stocks in 1715, the same system was used.² Later, it was adopted by other Registrars (namely, the Bank of Ireland, the Crown Agents for the Colonies and certain London bankers), who had similar Stocks under their management.

1. The Bank of England. Charters and Statutes, pp. 18-19.

2. 1. Geo. I, chapter 19, creating Annuities 5%.

- (3) The advantages of this system were:
- (i) its simplicity;
 - (ii) the speed with which a whole transaction could be effected i.e., from the order to a Broker for the sale or purchase of Stock to the execution of the transfer in the Bank books, and the receipt of the proceeds of the sale, or of a Stock Receipt in respect of a purchase. It was, in fact, stated in 1906 that 'in case of need a stockholder obtains a cheque for the proceeds of his sale in less than an hour after giving instructions for sale to his Broker';¹
 - (iii) the fact that the loss of a Stock Receipt or of an Inscribed Stock Certificate in no way invalidated title to the holding.

II DEED STOCK

(1) During the middle years of the XIXth century, with the establishment of Joint Stock Companies, came the development of the system of Transfer by Deed for commercial securities. This system involved:

- (i) the execution of Transfer Deeds by both transferors and transferees, and
- (ii) the issue of Certificates of Title or Register Certificates.

It was not then extended to Stocks managed by the Bank: as late as 1870, the Inscribed Stock system was still considered as being perfectly satisfactory for the transfer of such Stocks.¹

In 1884, the Bank began its experience of the Transfer by Deed system when it became the Registrar of the Eastern Bengal Railway 4% Debenture Stock.² It was not until 1912, and only after prolonged discussions, that this system was extended to British Government Stocks³, and, 8 years later, to Indian Government Stocks.⁴

(2) The Deed Stock Register was additional to the Inscribed Stock Register and did not supersede it. In 1921, the daily average of transfers of Inscribed Stock was 2,000 as against 1,100 for Deed Stock.⁵

III ABOLITION OF INSCRIBED STOCK

(1) The Inscribed Stock system of transfer necessitated the attendance of stockholders or of their Attorneys at the Bank's Transfer Offices in order to make transfers. The evacuation of these offices to Whitchurch on the outbreak of war in September 1939 made its continuance impossible.¹ Accordingly, it was enacted on 7th September 1939 that 'Inscribed Stock ... shall be transferable in law by instrument in writing in any usual or common form executed by all parties to the transfer'. This referred only to the means of transfer and not to the category which was not then abolished. In the place of Stock Receipts, Certificates of Inscription were issued to serve as memoranda of transactions.²

(2) Less than 4 months later, the abolition of the category itself was suggested.³

(3) The first step was to provide that all future British Government Stocks should be issued without an Inscribed Stock category. The first Stock affected was 2½% National War Bonds 1949/51, issued on 9th October 1941.⁴

(4) Existing Stocks were dealt with under Sec.47 of the Finance Act 1942 by which H.M.Treasury was empowered to make the necessary regulations regarding British Government Stocks.⁵

It would appear that when say a purchase transfer bearing the word "Inscribed" was lodged in September 1939 the amount of Stock was first raised "Registered" before being transferred to the Inscribed category a few days later, the original transfer being stamped No Cost + a DC reference paper (the DC's contain the 'C' vouchers) - subject to confirmation - the resulting instructions covering this have so far not been traced by the Record Room D. The memorandum as regards the end of the first book is dated January 1939. It is surprising that the Warline procedure is not included in this book!

The Beattie now says that these are now found in Room 9 as they are also held by the Stock Office Library (and change) No 31.173

1. From 1894 until the Evacuation, transfers of Birmingham, Manchester, Bristol, Liverpool and Hull Corporation Stocks could be made at the respective Branches.

3. Id. pp. 91-92

5. Id. pp. 92-93

(5) These regulations - The Government Stock Regulations, 1943- were issued on 1st January 1943, and came into operation the same day.¹

They provided, so far as Inscribed Stock was concerned, that:

- (i) all existing holders on the former Inscribed Registers 'shall be entitled, without payment to a certificate representing that amount of Stock of that description',
- (ii) 'Stock shall be transferable by instrument in writing in any usual common form executed by all parties to the transfer and delivered to and retained by the Bank'.

These regulations applied to all British Government Stocks except Annuities for Terms of Years, and had the effect of abolishing the Inscribed Register. The old Inscribed accounts remained in their existing cut-ups and were known as N.C. (non-certificated) Stock.² It was not until 1952 that steps were taken to issue certificates for these accounts. Special forms for the Request for the Issue of a Certificate (R.I.C.) were sent to the stockholders for completion and the former N.C. accounts were gradually absorbed into the Deed Registers.³

(6) From 1943, various issuing bodies for whom the Bank acted as Registrars obtained authority for the abolition of Inscribed Stock. The Inscribed Registers of those Stocks which are now in existence, were abolished as follows:

IV BANK BOOKS

The essential Bank books in connection with Inscribed Stock were:

- 1,2. (1) the ledgers, with their appropriate indexes,
 14 - 25 (2) the transfer books.
- 1 (1) The ledgers used for Inscribed Stock were the same as those for Registered Stock. There were spaces for 8 accounts on each folio, each account being indicated by a 'drop number' e.g., folio 100/1, 100/2 ... 100/8 (read as 'folio hundred drop one', etc.). The Registered Stock ledger folios were preceded by the letter D (for Deed), e.g., D100/1. The first three spaces were for joint accounts: the other five for sole accounts. Each Stock, depending upon its size, was divided alphabetically into a certain number of 'cut-ups'. A small Stock had only 1 cut-up, A-Z, while the largest, War 5% and War 3½%, had 60 from Aa-o to Wo-Z plus an extra one for the Public Trustee.¹ Accounts were posted by hand in the appropriate cut-up depending upon the surname of the first stockholder or the first significant word in a Corporate stockholder's title. When a ledger was full, a supplementary volume was used, and when the number of ledgers in a particular stock became too large, the entire set would be re-written, omitting gone accounts. The folios of the first re-written series of ledgers were preceded by the number 2 (e.g., 2/100/1) and similarly with 3 if the second series was re-written.

The introduction of mechanisation in 1933 resulted, so far as the ledgers were concerned, in:

- (i) their supersession by the modern loose-leaf account pages, kept in bins:
- (ii) mechanised posting and agreements;
- (iii) the substitution of numerical cut-ups for alphabetical cut-ups.

1. In Dead Stock ledgers for these stocks the Public Trustee did not have a separate ledger.

From the earliest days, a complicated form of index had been used in which the names of the stockholders were noted not under strictly alphabetical headings but on a basis of the initial letter of the surname with the next consonant and the first vowel.

During the First World War, card indexes were used but from the 1920's both types of indexes were gradually superseded by Kalamazooos.¹ India 2½% was the last stock to have the old type of alphabet which was not abandoned until the 1930's.

(2) Transfers were signed in bound Transfer Books by the stockholder or his Attorney, the signature being witnessed by a clerk of the Bank. This form of book was changed, with the introduction of mechanisation, to a loose-leaf book. These were, in turn, abolished when, in 1939, all transfers were made by an Instrument in writing, or Deed.

V ACQUISITION AND DISPOSAL OF HOLDINGS IN INSCRIBED STOCK

(1) Holdings could be acquired or disposed of in the normal manner, viz:

- (i) purchase/sale,
- (ii) transfer from/to 'private' accounts,
- (iii) inscription of Allotment Letters, and Scrip,
- (iv) conversion,
- (v) redemption,
- (vi) internal transfers,
and, where facilities were available,
- (vii) transfer from/to other Registers (i.e. Deed Stock, Post Office, Bank of Ireland, etc.),
- (viii) inscription of/transfer to, Stock Certificates or Bearer Bonds.

VI METHOD OF TRANSFER OF INSCRIBED STOCK
UNTIL SEPTEMBER 1939

A. EXECUTION

1. Personal Transfers.

A transfer could be made by the stockholder personally if he was identified by an Introduced Member of the Stock Exchange or by a Stock Exchange Clerk acting under Bond.

2. Transfers under Powers of Attorney.

The large majority of transfers were, however, made under the authority of Powers of Attorney granted by the Stockholders.¹ These were of two types:

- (i) General Powers of Attorney which were available to Banks and their Nominee Companies, jobbers, Public bodies and similar stockholders.
- (ii) Special powers of Attorney which were applicable to specified transferor accounts and for specified amounts of stock.

5-9 3. The latter type of Powers was originally handwritten: later, printed forms - suitable for sole, joint or corporate accounts - were used in which the details were inserted in manuscript but, in due course, in type. According to the requirements of each case, Powers were issued in two forms:

8 (i) with no transferees mentioned. These could be used for a transfer to a Jobber or to a private account, and for any number of transfers up to the amount of stock authorised in the Power (a 'Sale Power')

9 (ii) with the name(s) of the transferee(s) specified (a 'Bank Power').

(1st note P/As of this type were known as Transfer P/As to distinguish them from Sale P/As)

1. In the War 5th Br-t Transfer Book covering the period 10th May 1921 to 15th February 1922, only about 1% of the transfers were executed personally. A large number of transfers in other out-puts were, however, out of the names of Jobbers.

4. The Attorney might be either:
- (i) an Introduced Member of the Stock Exchange or a Clerk acting under Bond,
 - (ii) a Registered Representative of a Bank, or
 - (iii) a Solicitor, Bank official or other person who would, however, himself have to be identified.

5. Application for the issue of a Power of Attorney was made by the Brokers on a special form issued by the Bank. This application (lodged by hand and not through the post) was passed by the Power of Attorney Office (P.A.O.) who prepared and issued the Power for signature by the stockholder and sent a circular to him to inform him of the action proposed. When the Power was returned executed by him, P.A.O. agreed the signature: if this differed, the Power was stopped, an explanation being sought and, if necessary, the Power cancelled. If everything was in order, it was sent to the Transfer Office concerned.¹

1. 'Signature' here includes sealing by Corporate bodies. Replies from these bodies were required by P.A.O. to their circulars but not from private stockholders.

B. THE TRANSFERS

- (1) Blank tickets which were supplied by the Bank, were completed by the Brokers with the names, addresses and qualities of the transferors and transferees and the amount of stock to be transferred. These tickets were lodged in special boxes in the Transfer Offices by the Brokers' clerks.¹
- 14-17 (2) The tickets, married where necessary, to the Powers of Attorney,² were then examined, passed and written up in the Transfer Books applicable to the 'cut-ups' of the transferor accounts.
- 18-25 (3) With the introduction of mechanisation, the system was simplified by the introduction of a new type of form which served as both the Broker's Ticket and the Transfer itself. When passed, these forms were placed in loose-leaf binders, each labelled with the appropriate Stock and 'cut-up'.
- 14-15 (4) The transfer was then available for execution either by the 16,17,19, stockholder himself if he was acting personally, or by his Attorney.
20,21,24
27-33 In both cases, a clerk of the Bank acted as a witness to his signature and both signed the Stock Receipt which, having been prepared in the Broker's office, was brought to the Bank by the Attorney (or by the person identifying a stockholder).³ This document was in due course forwarded by the Broker to the transferee or his agent to serve as:
- (i) a receipt for the consideration money,
(ii) a memorandum of the transfer.

1. These boxes were removed and cleared every morning at 11.30 a.m., to the cry of 'Boxes!' by the Office Messenger. Tickets lodged after that time, for use that day, were accepted on payment of 2s.6d. late fee, but transfers could not be made after 2.30 p.m.

1-2 2. Reference to the P/A was made in the top left part of the account (i.e. mark, name of Attorneys and the word 'Trans.')

3. These were the same size and colour as the corresponding Tickets e.g. white for War $\frac{1}{2}$, brown for Console $\frac{2}{3}$ etc.

- (5) By a clause of the Bank Charter,¹ which, in its essential terms in this respect, was repeated in the Annuities 5% Act,² a transferee was required to accept the transfer of a holding into his name. The transferee, suitably identified, or his attorney, attended at the Bank, when the actual transfer would be exhibited: to this he added his signature, thus accepting the transfer of Stock. So far as Bank Stock was concerned (and probably for all other Stocks) this practice seems to have been gradually dropped from the 1760's and not generally observed after the end of that century, despite the cf.27,28 injunction printed on the Stock Receipts. Consequently the signature of a transferee to a transfer after that period, is seldom to be found in the Bank books.³
- 33,34 (6) A Stockholder could have his Stock Receipt verified by the Bank as corresponding to the entry in the Bank books: in such a case, the Stock Receipt was overprinted as having been verified.⁴

1. 'And we do hereby ... order ... that the Method and Manner of making all Assignments and Transfers of the said Capital Stock ... shall be by an Entry in the said Book or Books, signed by the Party so assigning or Transferring ... Under which Transfer the Person or Persons ... to whom such Assignment or Transfer shall be made, or some other Person by him or them lawfully authorized thereunto, shall sign his or their Name or Names, attesting that he or they do freely and voluntarily accept of the same.' (The Bank of England. Charters and Statutes, pp. 18 - 19.)

2. 1 Geo. I, c. 19, section 11.

3. The Bank of England. Charters and Statutes, p.19 n 1.

4. No fee for British and Indian Government Stocks: otherwise 1s. fee.

(7) A re-execution to correct an error in a transfer (commonly called an "I say") was authorised by a Principal:

23

(i) In the case of a transfer from a Jobber's name or from a private account under a "Sale Power" on the strength of a letter or a Declaration completed by the Brokers who lodged the transfer.

22

(ii) In the case of a transfer from a private account made under a "Bank Power" on the strength of a form for the correction of the P/A, completed under the signatures of those who signed the original document.

17,24

A "re-execution" was prepared to the original transfer with the words "I say unto (citing correction)" which was executed by the attorney, his signature being witnessed as before.¹

25

(8) Bearer Security could also be obtained in exchange for Inscribed Stock of certain Loans: a transfer was executed and a Bond Mandate signed. This mandate which was also counter-signed by a Superintendent or Principal of the Transfer Office concerned, indicated that the transfer had been effected and that the bearer was entitled to Stock Certificates to Bearer or Bonds to Bearer, as the case might be, to an equivalent amount. These were issued by the Cashier's Department on presentation of the mandate.

(9) The posting to the ledgers (later, to the account pages) was done from the tickets (later, transfer forms).²

(10) Originally, the tickets were entered in books known as debit and credit abstracts, from which the ledgers were pricked-off, the process being indicated by a tick in the abstracts and a red letter (which changed with each Final Balance) in the ledger.

Later, the Fanfold System superseded the abstracts.

1. An "I say" was made without formality if, after execution, a mistake in the entry of the transfer in the Transfer Book was discovered. This "I say" had to be completed on the same day as the transfer.

19,20,21. 2. A posting to a ledger is indicated on a ticket or transfer form by an initial: that to an account page, by a rubber-stamp.

VII INTERNAL TRANSFERS, ETC.

(1) The previous section dealt with transfers effected through the Stock Exchange and for which Stock Receipts were issued.

(2) There were other operations, affecting Inscribed accounts, which were carried out in the Bank, as follows:

	Operation	Document Used	Certificate Issued
	(i) Transfer to Deed Stock	B-D Demand	Register Certificate
	(ii) Transfer from Deed Stock	D-B Demand	Certificate of Transfer

35-42 (3) Certificates of Inscription normally state that so much Stock has been inscribed in the Books of the Bank of England in the name of so-and-so: in the case of Securities with the word 'Registered' in the title, the Stock is stated to have been so
46-47 'registered' although it had been, in fact, inscribed, and the document issued was a Certification of Registration.

44-45 (4) Certificates of Transfer state that so much Stock has been transferred into the name of so-and-so.

45-46 (5) All types of Certificates were normally issued over the Chief Accountant's name,¹ though some Certificates were signed by the Principal of the Transfer Office.

32 (6) The marriage of a stockholder (even when a change of cut-up was involved) was shown by an enfacement to the Stock Receipt or Certificate (if it was lodged).

VIII MISCELLANEOUS

48

One further point in which Inscribed Stock procedure differed from that of Deed Stock (up to September 1939) should be mentioned. Whereas a Transfer Deed quotes the Consideration Money passing on the Transfer, no such information appeared in the entries in the Bank Transfer Books for Inscribed Stock. However, by an act of 8 & 9 William III, the Bank was required to keep a register of all contracts for the Sale or Purchase of Bank Stock and the price of the Stock had to be specified.¹ This act was only very indifferently observed, only 152 contracts between 1697 and 1721 being so registered. A subsequent Register was maintained in accordance with 7 Geo. III, Statute 2, but as this appears to be lost, it cannot be said whether contracts relating to British Government Stocks were also entered. It is possible that these registers were the origin of the Brokers' Contract Notes.

1. 8 & 9 William III c. 20,
 'An Act for making good the Deficiencies of several Funds therein mentioned; and for enlarging the Capital Stock of the Bank of England; and for raising the Publick Credit'.
 XLIV And, for the preventing of clandestine or fraudulent Bargains or Dealings in Bank Stock for the future; be it further enacted ... That from and after the said Five and twentieth Day of March ... One thousand six hundred ninety-seven, no Promise, Contract, Bargain, Covenant, or Agreement made either by Word of Mouth, or in Writing, for the buying or selling of any Bank Stock, or for the transferring, charging, or altering, the Property thereof, either in Trust or otherwise, however it be, shall be good or valid in Law or Equity, or adjudged to be legal, obligatory, or binding to either or any of the Parties making the same, or concerning therein or for whole Use or Account the same is or shall be made, unless such Promise, Contract, Bargain, Covenant, or Agreement, shall be actually registered in Words at Length, in the Book or Books of the Bank, by the Officer thereunto appointed, within Seven Days, and actually transferred within fourteen Days next after the Making of Such Promise, Contract, Bargain, Covenant, or Agreement.

APPENDIX

The documents of which copies are here attached, are only examples of some of those that were in use. It should be noted that:

- (i) there were frequent revisions in the format of documents (e.g., Stock Receipts and Powers of Attorney),
- (ii) variations in some forms were necessary to meet the requirements of particular Stocks,
- (iii) some documents (e.g., Brokers' Tickets,) had only short lives and have long since been destroyed. Such was also the case with applications for Powers of Attorney: that illustrated here had been retained only because the Power of Attorney itself had been impounded.
- (iv) Forms which are the same as, or very similar to, those in use to-day have not in general been included.

NOT TO BE TAKEN OUT OF THE BANK.

MEMORANDUM FOR CLERKS IN THE INSCRIBED STOCK TRANSFER OFFICES.

It should be borne in mind that these instructions are to serve as a Guide and are not to be read as being completely detailed.

ACCURACY, LEGIBILITY and NEATNESS are essential when using Account Pages which must be handled with CARE. All necessary DELETIONS must be made with a RULER.

The Units are responsible for the safe custody of Account Pages which must not be removed from their control. Clerks passing transfer forms may make reference to the Account Pages in the Desks without extracting them.

A TRANSFER FORM WHICH HAS BEEN SIGNED BY THE STOCKHOLDER OR HIS ATTORNEY BEFORE LODGMENT WILL BE CANCELLED AND A FRESH FORM CALLED FOR.

EXAMINING TRANSFER FORMS.

The need for ACCURACY in passing transfer forms cannot be over-emphasised as much of the Examiner's work is not checked.

Any "references" must be made in the left-hand margin.

Stock.	Check that the appropriate form has been used and that the Name of the Stock is correctly quoted.
Broker's etc., Name, Date.	Check that the form bears the name of the firm by whom it is put forward. Check that the form is correctly dated.
Amount.	Check that the words and figures agree.
Account Page Number.	Obtain the account number from the transfer form and compare it with the account number on the form.
Personal Attendance.	If a transfer of £2,000 or upwards is to be made by a sole stockholder or executor on personal attendance, a previous signature must be verified and the reference mark placed at the top of the form. If two or more are attending, two signatures at least must be verified.
Signatures.	Reference for the agreement of signatures must be made and be made to documents in the following order, viz:— <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Executor transfer or Power of Attorney. 2. Dividend Request, other than Bankers. 3. Correspondence Mark (Designation, Marriage, etc.). 4. Bankers' Requests (if more than six months old). Failing any of these or if they are at the Record Office:— <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 5. Last Will and Testament. 6. Writ of Habeas Corpus.
Transfers of £2,000 or over.	Before passing a form transferring £2,000 or over from any account in a name (or names) other than that of a Jobber, Banker or Corporate Body, or one of the Public Departmental or official accounts, the balance shown on the Account Page should be checked to the dividend book by completing the verification form (No. 841B). A Grade II, Class I Clerk in the Transfer Office will verify any "Subsequent Transactions" against the actual transfers. The verification charts are to be kept by the Senior of the Division for six months.
Distraints.	A transfer form dealing with an account on which there is a distringas or other restraint must at once be referred. It must not be passed until the restraint has been passed by the Examiner. Where there is no distringas or other restraint, the words "No Dist." and the initials of the Examiner must be placed in the top left-hand corner of the form. Where an account has been "suspended or levied," both sides must be examined. Check that there is sufficient Stock on the account to cover the transfer and that all items have been pricked off.

Small Balances. Watch for small balances. If an amount under £5 is left, the form must be stopped and the Stockbroker must confirm that the Stockholder desires to leave the balance on the account.

Deceased Accounts. When passing a form off an account in which the name of a deceased Stockholder appears, the "Register Mark" must be written at the top of the form by the Examiner. A form must not be passed off an account on which a death is not fully proved.

Minors. Never pass a form off an account in which the name of a minor appears or to an account in the sole name of a minor. A form opening an account in which the name of a minor appears should, in the case of a short-dated Security, be referred to the Principal. The exhibition of the birth certificate of the minor need not be insisted on at the time of raising a joint account but the Stockbroker should be reminded that the certificate must be exhibited before the Stock can be dealt with.

Carried Accounts. Care must be taken not to pass a form off a carried account until the account has been checked.

Public Trustee, Official Assignee, etc. Any necessary order must be drawn and checked.

Transfer under Power of Attorney. Where a transfer is to be made under a Power of Attorney, the Examiner is responsible for seeing that the Power is registered on the account and that the proposed transfer is not at variance therewith. The word "Atty." should be written under the debit account number on the form.

New Power of Attorney. Check that any earlier unexpired Power registered on the account has been superseded where necessary. If the Power specifies the names of the transferees it can be acted on only for the purpose(s) for which it is granted.

Old Power of Attorney. If a transfer is to be effected under a Power of Attorney executed two or more years previously, reference should be made to a Grade 1, Division 1 Clerk. The mark should be quoted on the transfer form.

General Power of Attorney. Transfers of Stock standing in the names of Numbers of Banks, etc., frequently take place under what are known as General Powers. In such cases write "Gen. P.A." at the top of the form.

Power of Attorney Stopped. When application is made to transfer Stock on personal attendance and there is a "P.A.O. Stop" on the account, reference should be made to a Grade 1, Division 1 Clerk.

Transfers to Dealers. A special transfer form is used on which the number and the denominations required must be stated. The Loans Office must be notified when 100 or more of one denomination are required. Fees for the issue of Special Certificates in respect of Colonial Office Stocks are payable at the Bond Counters, 1st Floor, and the Examiner must check that the form has been stamped "Accepted" by them.

Unclaimed. If application is made to transfer Stock from an account which is stamped "C.A.C.O. (Unclaimed)," information must be given to the Corner in order that they may acquire the C.A.C.O. (Unclaimed).

Syndic. A form transferring Stock from an account on which a "Syndic" is registered must be referred to the Register Office before being passed.

Jobbers. Where Statement Pages are in use, the Examiner is not responsible for seeing that there is sufficient Stock on the account to cover the number in question. Stock acquired by a Jobber by inscription of Bonds or Stock Certificates may be used the same day. A fee of 2s. (2/-) is payable in respect of each form lodged which should bear the Stamp "Fee Paid."

Exempts. Reference should be made to the Exempt Chart where an exempt is recorded on the account and the transfer should be marked in ink "Exempt to be cancelled" or "Carry Always Exempt, Date and Voucher No." as the case may be.

Credits. The Examiner must see that the form indicates whether the credit account is "O/a," "O/a Acc. Divs.," "N/a" or "O/a or N/a." Also deletion is made, the form must be SIGNED by the Stockbroker who issues it, and when the transfer is to be made under a Special Power of Attorney. The Examiner must always search the Alphabet to see whether the account is O/a or N/a and, if O/a, check all details with the Account Page. If N/a, see that the account is one that the Bank can accept and if the form is in order a new Account Page Number should be obtained from the Kalamazoo Numbering Sheet, the number drawn being crossed through to indicate that it has been used.

Acc. Divs. Where an addition to an Acc. Div. account has the effect of increasing the amount to a limit of £2,000, the Stockbroker must be informed that the addition will be made and he must sign a statement on the back of the form to the effect that "It is desired to add to the existing account, the dividends on which will no longer be invested by the Bank."

Qualities. Either Spinster, Married Woman, Wife of Widow or Single Woman must appear on the form for every Female Stockholder. Title, rank, profession or occupation must be stated for Male Stockholders. Great care must be taken when passing Stock into the names of titled persons. Reference Books and the Memorandum headed "Dividend Warrants" may be consulted but all information must be given by the Stockbroker.

Full Postal Address. Described Accounts. The Stockbroker must supply a full postal address for each Stockholder which should include the postal district number where applicable. Where the name of a transferee already appears as a holder of Stock but of a different address, the form must be stopped for the Stockbroker to state definitely that the account is a new one. The Examiner will then write the word "Described" against the credit account number on the form and underline in red ink the first portion of the address. Steps will be taken later by the Pricker-Off to underline that part of the address on the Account Page and to see that it is inserted in the Alphabet and that the existing account has been described.

Designated Accounts. More than one account can be held in the same names in the same Stock provided that the accounts are designated by means of letters and that the Stockholders' names are in the same order.

Corporate Accounts. Accounts may be opened in the name of a Corporate Body provided that the Bank have been furnished on the usual form with a specimen impression of the Seal, a statement as to the rules and regulations governing its use and the address of the registered Office of the Company. The "N.A.Z." mark must be obtained and put on the transfer form and the title and address of the Company checked with the card in the Seal Index or with the Corporate Seal form. There are special regulations in regard to Foreign or Colonial Corporations and every case should be referred to a Principal. A Seal form to raise a new account should be passed by a Principal.

Parishial Church, District, & District Councils, etc. Accounts may be opened in the name of a Parish Council, Parochial Church Council, District Council or Representative Body of a Parish having no Seal and, in British Government Stocks only, a Corporate Body having no Seal, provided that the Bank have been furnished with a request on the appropriate form. The "N.A.Z." mark must be obtained and put on the transfer form and the title of the account checked with the card in the Seal Index.

Private Firms. In no circumstances may Stock be transferred into the name of a Private Firm, i.e., one which is not incorporated (e.g., A. J. Jones and Son).

Deceased Stockholders. Never pass a form to add to an account in which the name of a deceased Stockholder appears.

Married or Official Position Accounts (British Government Securities only). Before passing a form into the names of Stockholders to be described as "Trustees," etc., or into the names of persons holding official positions, it must be checked with the "A" or "B" demand form indexes. The appropriate mark must be placed on the transfer form by the Clerk dealing with such demands who must be informed if the transfer is subsequently stopped.

Passed or Transfer Forms. If the form is in order, the next unused number is to be taken from the numbering sheet in the transfer book cover and written by the Examiner in an appropriate space at the top of the form, the debit account number being assigned by him against the number taken. Care should be taken to ensure there is sufficient Stock for all the transactions if the same account number appears more than once on the same day. The Examiner should then sign the form in the appropriate place and, if the transfer is to be made by Attorney, the power must be debited off on the back, viz. — "1 Sept. 1908 A. N. Other £567 8:5 12" The form is then ready for entry on the Pargagon Register.

Stopped Transfer Forms. Particulars of every stopped form must be entered in the Stop Book and noted on the Counter Stop Sheet before the form is placed in the "stop" slip. Details of discrepancies must not be written on any stopped form (on back of ~~1000~~ the stopped transfer form is the property of the Bank and must not be taken away by the Stockbroker unless sanctioned by the Principal. Any transfer "Void 2.30 p.m." is to be entered in the Stop Book.

Corrections and Fees. Transfer forms on being lodged at the Bank must contain no alterations or erasures. Subsequent alteration of the name of the Stock, the amount of Stock (words or figures) or the address of the transferee in a new account necessitates a fresh form and, where applicable, a fresh Stock Receipt. Any correction allowed in a transfer form must be made only by the Stockbroker. If it is alleged and he must initial the alteration. No assistance as to discrepancies should be given to the Stockbroker except by a Senior in the Office and no alteration must be made by an Examiner. If the fresh form is not lodged after 11.30 a.m., reference should be made to the Principal before demanding a fee of 2s. 6d. Any alterations permitted must be initialed by the transferee at the time of execution and by the witness.

Bank Mandates. Separate Clerks are to be detailed to write and check Bank Mandates—the checker detaching the counterfoil and handing it to the Senior of the Division.

PARAGON REGISTER ENTRY.

Transfer forms when passed must, before they are placed in the Transfer covers, be entered on the Paragon Register (in indelible pencil) care being taken to see that carbon copies are legible and that all details have been entered, i.e., designating letters or earmarks, etc.

Each transaction must be entered on a separate set of vouchers but a full entry need be made once only in the case of more than one transfer from the same account, the subsequent entries (transfer section only) being cross-referenced thus:— "See No."

Instructions for cancelling or carrying exempt and dividend instructions must be entered on the vouchers.

PLACING FORMS IN TRANSFER BOOK COVERS.

The Transfer Book Clerk is responsible for the form being appropriate to the Stock, that it is correctly dated and numbered, that the words and figures agree and that the form bears the ink signature of the Examiner with the words "No. Ds." duly initialled in the top left-hand corner. He should see that all earlier processes have been completed and insert the form in the appropriate cover. His initials against the transfer number will imply observance of all these processes.

The Transfer Book Clerk will also be responsible for seeing that statement posting, where applicable, has been carried out and he must not place an overwriting transfer form in the cover until he is satisfied that there is sufficient credit on the account to cover the transaction.

WITNESSING.

The Witness should see that the signature on the transfer is that of a person introduced to the Bank for the purpose of making such a transfer. Where the signature is not known to the Bank, the person executing the transfer must be identified. THE WITNESS SHOULD ALLOW NO TRANSFER TO BE MADE ON A FORM WHICH IS NOT CONTAINED IN THE COVER AND HE SHOULD SEE THAT THE TRANSFER IS EXECUTED IN HIS PRESENCE.

Any alteration requiring the initials of the transferor(s) should also be initialled by the Witness. He is responsible for seeing that the appropriate form of Stock Receipt is being used and that the Stock in question is printed on the back of the Receipt. He should compare the Stock Receipt with the transfer before release.

If the transfer is by Attorney, the Witness should see that it is in accordance with the purport of the Power and initial against the debiting off. Where action is taken under a General Power of Attorney, reference should be made, where necessary, to the index or List of General Powers kept in the Principal's case in each Transfer Office.

PRICKING-OFF.

The responsibility for the accuracy of the posting rests with the Pricker-Off and therefore the UTMOST CARE must be taken.

The Pricker-Off should compare the Account Page with the "D" or "C" voucher and see that all the particulars agree and that the transfer has been correctly posted. If a comparison reveals any discrepancy, reference must in all cases be made to the transfer.

He should check that a new account has been raised correctly, i.e., names, addresses, etc., inserted on the correct line(s) of the Account Page, and he should insert a red ink tick through the vertical line to the left of the balance column on the Account Page opposite the amount posted; The amount of Stock appearing in the balance column prior to the item being dealt with should be inserted at the foot of the voucher, together with any dividend instructions recorded on the account.

He is responsible for voiding or carrying any exempt or dividend instructions and for writing the appropriate memo, and dye-ting, where necessary. Exempt "cancelled" or "carried" memos must be entered in the Office Exempt Book. In carrying an exempt, the new account number should be placed on the old page, e.g., "Carried to 20/1234." He should write in ink on the Debit Voucher "Exempt Cancelled" when all the Stock is being transferred.

Where the sole or first Stockholder in a new account is described as being an address outside the United Kingdom he must write a Foreign Carn.

He is to satisfy himself in the case of new accounts that the necessary entry has been made in the Alphabet.

DOUBLING.

Doubling is to be carried out by Clerks in charge of Units and in no case by the Pricker-Off. The Doubler must check by means of the transfer (or internal ticket) that the account is correctly inserted in the Alphabet, that it is a new account and is described, if necessary. He should see that the addresses and qualities or titles of all stockholders have been correctly recorded on the second pages and that the raising of the account has been commenced on the correct line, that exempt or dividend instructions have been recorded, where applicable, and the entry made in the Office Exempt Book. He should also see that the Corporate Seal mark or that of the "A" or "B" Demand, etc., has been properly recorded where necessary and that the account has been posted off. The Corner should be notified of any new account on which a General Power is to be received. On completion he should initial in red ink on the left-hand side of the Account Page below the cage.
